LEARNERSPREP AND GO TEST GO TO DEVELOP DRIVING QUIZZES

Hamilton, Ontario, Canada - (April 30, 2005) – Mobile practice and self-assessment quiz developer Go Test Go Inc. today announced a partnership with Learnersprep Training Limited to collaborate on a series of mobile quizzes to assist those studying for a learner's driving licence or permit. An initial series of 5 quizzes targeting Vehicle Safety, Highway Driving, City Driving, Adverse Conditions and Road Signs, will be created for each of the 10 Canadian provinces as well as a series for Northern Canada. The quizzes are planned for summer release. Additional driving test preparation markets are also being pursued including the US, Australia, UK and Germany.

Mobile driving quizzes will be available to consumers with Internet and Java enabled (can play downloadable games) phones – the majority of phones today. Quizzes will be sold via the web at <http://www.gotestgo.com/store> and <http://www.learnersprep.com>. Cingular/ATT customers can purchase quizzes directly through Go Test Go's mobile storefront (<http://gtg.mp>). Additional on-carrier and off-carrier distribution is also planned.
